DETAILED ACTION

This office action is to substitute previous office action.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 1-6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

The claims are drawn to method for manufacturing however there is no positive active method step present in the claims which rendering them indefinite.

Claim 4 appears to be a duplication of claim 5 because the metal plate of claim 4, which depends on claim 1 inherently is a flat plate.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Allen et al. (US 3,087,807).

Allen et al. disclose a method for making foamed-metal structure comprising mixing a powdered structure metal with a powdered gas-forming material, compacting the mixture to form a compacted material having gas-forming material embedded in the structure metal, placing the compact in a hollow structure and subjecting the compact to above the melting temperature so that rapidly foaming takes place to fill the hollow structure. Allen et al teach the structure metal can be aluminum and gas-forming material can be hydride of titanium, col. 5, lines 46-54, while hollow structure material can be thin aluminum tube, col. 4, lines 52-62.

The difference between the claims and Allen et al is that Allen et al teach placing the compact in a hollow structure to envelop the compact while applicant claims attaching the compact to one side faces of a metallic flat plate and then plastic deforming the metallic flat plate in such a way to envelop the compact. Therefore, the difference between prior art and the claimed invention lies in the step of producing metal enveloped compact. However, such alternate methods for making metal enveloped compact would have been obvious to one skilled in the art unless there is evidence indicating such feature is critical. It is noted that the specification contains no disclosure of either the critical nature of the claimed method in making the metal enveloped compact or any unexpected results arising therefrom, hence whether the foam is put in a pre-made enclosure as in the prior art or put on a flat plate followed by plastic deforming the plate to make the enclosure as claimed will not support the patentability of the subject matter encompassed by the prior art. Where patentability is said to be based upon particular features recited in the claim, the applicant must show that the chosen features are critical. In re Woodruff, 919 F.2d, 1575, 1578, 16 USPQ2d, 1936 (Fed. Cir. 1990).
